

LITERACY NIGHT

Tuesday May 4th 6:00– 7:00 p.m.
Zoom Link will be sent in an e-mail

If you loved our Zoom festival, get ready to join us for a night full of fun focused around reading! Come to Zoom dressed up as your favorite character, bring a cup of cocoa, and get ready for a fun night all about books. We will kick off the event with author visits from the two authors below. The last half of the event will have a multitude of breakout rooms featuring book trivia kahoots, book talks, King County Library, and read alouds by your favorite Woodmont teachers and middle schoolers. We will also be raffling off books– just show up to enter the raffle!

Rachel Howard is the author of “When Your Cookie Crumbles,” a picture book that teaches kids about their emotions, all while comparing it to baking yummy cookies!

Matt de la Pena is the New York Times best selling, Newberry Award winning author of 7 Young Adult books and 5 picture books. He is known for writing books that engage reluctant readers such as Mexican Whiteboy, Ball Don't Lie, and We Were Here. His picture book, “Last Stop on Market Street” won the Newberry Award in 2016.
