Dear Nautilus K8 Families,

Another weekly check-in – end of Week 5. I sure hope your family is safe and healthy! That is really what is important while we live through this Stay at Home order. Mrs. Gutman-Britten shared some tips with me this week: make sure you have snacks; make sure you drink water; make sure you go outside for at least 20 minutes; make sure you call a friend; and make sure you cross something off your To-Do list. I often forget about drinking water and going outside (although not having a problem with the snack part).

This week, we launched our on-line websites through Canvas. I greatly appreciate your patience and grace as we are learning more and more about technology every day. If you have not been able to log-in to Canvas, please reach out to your scholar’s teacher. If you are struggling to get onto Clever, go to http://www.clever.com/in/fwps and have your scholar log-in through Google with their district email address. The scholars are familiar with Clever – it is a dashboard that gives them their iReady app.

The password is Learn!12

As of Friday at 2:30 pm, we have had 355/571 scholars log onto iReady Reading – that is 62% and for iReady Math ... drumroll ... 532/571 or 93% of our scholars have logged in! WooHoo!

Also, some good news – the state of Washington has selected Nautilus to be celebrated for demonstrating growth and supporting scholars! We received the WA State School Recognition award! I am so happy and so proud of all of our Nautilus community! WooHoo!

Last, if your child is struggling getting started with the work this next week, here are some questions to ask them: 1) Can you show me how your teacher did this?; 2) Can you show me the part you don’t understand and we can start there?; 3) What part do you think you can try by yourself?; and 4) If you knew what to do, what would be the first step you think you would take? We often find the kids are rarely struggling with the whole assignment, just one small part. Our goal is to develop perseverance, determination, or grit. Our kids can do this! #WeGotThis
